Private Lessons with Miss Christina

What are the benefits of private lessons?

Private lessons are available to any student to improve their ability and confidence in themselves. Private lessons allow quality time to devote to your child and help improve any area of weaknesses. Whether your child wants to fine-tune their technique or work on cleaning up a solo routine, there are many benefits.

The teacher can hone in on your child's weaknesses and design the whole lesson just for them. If they are having a problem with turns or they want to gain more flexibility, the teacher can tailor exercises to help strengthen those weaknesses. The student does not have to have a specific problem or focus to take private lessons, but it helps your child talk to their teacher about their goals and keep an open line of communication.The teacher also gets to know the student as a person and can help them develop emotionally as a dancer.

If they are at the top of their class, a one-on-one session can challenge them. If they are slightly behind, the time can be spent going over basics. A lot of students like privates because they can slow down and figure out what they need to work on. It's nice for the student to go at their own pace.
